PLANNING OUTING.

"We get plenty to eat here, but we Con't have the pretty dresses and shoes and mammas, 'cause we're orphans," and the speaker, a bright miss of 10 clutched at a rent in her dress.

It was Sunday afternoon, and she was seated in the midst of half a dozen companions beneath an apple tree in the grounds adjoining the Orphans' Home and Day Nursery, 1919 South State street. Like them, she was bare-headed and was without shoes and stockings. Their skirts and waists gave evidence of long use, being threadbare in many places. But they were clean showing careful laundry. were clean, showing careful laundry-

For all the inmates of this orphanage there are only two hats, according to the matron in charge. Shoes and stock-ings are almost entirely lacking.

There are ten girls and twenty-one boys in this institution, their ages ranging from 2 to 13 years, and it would be difficult to find a healthier, happier or better natured lot of youngsters. Despite the adversity that has overtak-en them so early in life, they are as cheerful as though surrounded by every luxury that money can buy. Their health is really remarkable. During the nearly twenty years the institution has been in existence there has been but two deaths within its walls, and sickness is rare indeed. sickness is rare indeed among the in-mates, who have numbered more than 2,000. The number now enrolled is fifty, but there are several with families who propose to adopt them, so that but thirty-one actually remain in the institution. They attend the Fortieth district school, and they are making as good progress in their studies as the other pupils.

*The women who manage the home recently built an annex at a cost of $3,000, and they owe $2,000 of this amount. Providing for the liquidation of this indebtedness has left them short of funds with which to clothe the strengthy the little cases whose core they properly the little ones whose care they have undertaken, and in consequence they are compelled to appeal to the public to contribute more freely in the future than in the past. The boys are in as needy a condition as the girls.

Otherwise it will be necessary to take the children to Lagoon bare of feet and limbs and attired in the cheap and much-worn gar-ments in which they were clothed yes-terday when seen by a representative of The Herald.

The Elks propose to load the children of the four orphanages into 'busses, tally-hos and other conveyances at 9:30 o'clock the morning of Aug. 4, and they will then parade to the Lagoon train, the children in the lead and the members of the order following. How Home is Run.

The Orphans' Home and Day Nursery is managed by a board of thirteen women, representing the various religion denominations of the city, and it entirely non-sectarian. It has no edowment fund, and is supported locontributions from the women who con pose the board and charitably-incline the meat supply for two days in each month, and adds as much of other things to eat as may be necessary from time to time. President Tells of Work.

In discussing the work of the home Mrs. Hancock, the president, said:
"We are cramped for funds to carry on our work, owing to the fact that we had to go in debt $2.000 in building the annex to the institution. We have ar average of fifty boys and girls in the institution the year around and while institution the year around, and while we feed them well, as they will tell you, we are not able to clothe them as e would like to do and as they ough to be clothed. During the nearly twen ty years the home has been in existence ty years the home has been in existence over 2,000 boys and girls have been cared for by it. Some of those who come to us are orphans and others have a mother or father living, who are unable to care for them. If the parent is able to pay anything for the keep of the child, we make good use of it. But we take the little ones in if there is not a cent comes with them. We do everything we can for them, and they are a healthy and happy lot. But of course they need more than we are able to provide for them, and I sincerely hope The Herald will be the means of arousing public attention and means of arousing public attention and interest to such an extent that every little boy and girl in the institution will he able to make a nice appearance at the Lagoon when taken there by the Elks of Salt Lake City,"

"We are proud of what we have done. Every boy and girl, every man and woman, who, either themselves or who had parents and grandparents who assisted in building up the beautiful city, have reason to be proud. We came out here and planted the stars and stripes on new soil and established liberty of speech and liberty of religious worship. We have made it possible for us, while honoring our country and our flag, to worship God in our own way."

He then urged the congregations to observe strictly the Sabbath. He deprecated the prevalent custom of patronizing pleasure resorts on Sunday and neglecting to attend the various religious services. He advocated the cooking of Sunday dinners as far as possible on Saturday and doing in advance all other work that was practical in order that the women might have the privilege of attending the services.

> Manti, July 24.-The Republican county Manti, July 24.—The Republican county committee of Sanpete met in this city yesterday for the purpose of deciding when to hold a county convention; also to select the place and to transact other business. It was determined to hold the convention in Ephraim on August 15. The representation of delegates will be determined on a basis of one vote to every twenty-seven cast for Joseph Howell for congress, making in all about ninety-nine delegates from the different cities. Last year the representation was about eighty-five. A goodly representation was present. The delegates to the state convention will also be selected at this time.

> N. C. Christensen of Sterling said yesterday that he had entered the race as a candidate for the legislature, which adds another to the list of legislative candidates on the Republican side. Mr. Christensen represented this county in the last legislature, at which time Senator Kearns was selected, and there is no doubt that Christensen will give the Gunnison candidates a hard ruo at the convention. There are also two candidates in Fayette, John Bartholomew and J. C. Mellor, and between the two towns. Sterling and Fayette, things will be made lively for Kearns and Metcalf of Gunnison. Of course Gunnison has the four year term county commissioner and has been honored to a considerable extent by the party in the past, leaving out the smaller places in their neighborhood, which may also be considered at the convention. The Sterling candidate is said to belong to no faction or ring and it is believed that he will cut quite a figure in the fight.

DeMoisey drove over to Gunnison Thursday where he telt the pulse of the brethren, soon returning to Manti. It appears that he could do nothing there in the way or harmonizing either state or county politics. The people there seem to be decidedly against the ring organized here and they do not propose to give in under any circumstances.

the ring organized here and they do not propose to give in under any circumstances.

John L. Peacock of Sterling has incidentally been mentioned for representative. He is said to have always been a constant worker for the Republican party and has never been recognized in any way for his faithful services. It is believed that he may have quite a tollowing from his home town.

It is rumored that there is some opposition in Moroni as to the county clerkship. Some there are favorable to E. P. Anderson for that position, while another crowd, possibly the controlling element, want to reinstate the present incumbent, P. W. Eliason. It is not unlikely that if the fight should become too burdensome to the convention that J. Morgan Johnson may step in and take the c'erkship and leave the others to fight for the treasurer's office, which is at present held by Johnson of Spring City.

Peter Sundwall of Fairview and J. A. Tuft of Gunnison may be candidates on the Democratic ticket for representatives. George Christenseu is talked of favorably for county superintendent of schools. Some still hold that he will be a candidate for county attorney, but as his line of work has principally been in the school and at present an unstructor in the Snow academy it is thought that he will be induced to accept the nomination for county superintendent.
